

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana's law has been very effective in eliminating unwanted and un-solicited telemarketer calls to our home. We moved into our new house two years ago and were receiving at least 5-15 calls per week. Since January w have received none and are very pleased with the impact this law has had and do not want it to be changed or modified to be less effective in dealing with this chronic problem.
